Running in Lara's Memory

For the Golusin family, City-Bay is about so much more than crossing the finish line.

This September, Lara's brother, Thomas, will take on the City-Bay Fun Run alongside his family in her memory — remembering a truly extraordinary little girl whose curiosity, determination and caring nature touched everyone around her.

Lara was diagnosed with a Wilms Tumour at just four and a half years old. Despite the challenges of treatment, she approached every day with incredible courage. She loved creating things, animals, adventure and taking on a challenge — from rock climbing and go-karts to dreaming about riding the biggest rollercoasters.

Sadly, Lara passed away at home in November 2022, aged just six and a half.

The Golusin family is fundraising for the Childhood Cancer Association, an organisation that supported their family throughout Lara's treatment and continues to provide vital support to families navigating childhood cancer.

From providing Lara with a weekly tutor during her long hospital stays to counselling and bereavement support for the whole family, CCA was there when the Golusin family needed them most.

Reflecting on why she continues to fundraise in Lara's memory, Lara's mum, Kylie, says:

> "As much as we love Lara being remembered and thought about, her memory encourages me to want to help other families — that's what she would want."

This year, the family set a fundraising goal of $500 — and have already raised $1,836.

For Thomas and his family, City-Bay isn't just about the finish line. It's a chance to come together, wear Lara's favourite colour — purple — and help raise awareness for childhood cancer.

Help Thomas continue Lara's legacy.
